

GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

W. M. RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER.

The Cause and Cure of All Diseases
Discovered by a Student of Nature.

ALL DISEASE IS CAUSED BY MICROBES.

Radam's Microbe Killer Destroys Them, Hence It Cures All Diseases—Facts of Nature Prove and the Testimony of People Cured by This Remedy Substantiate the Above.

For generations past people have been drilled into the belief that every symptom of disease, such as inflammation, suppuration, sourness of the stomach, the various forms of fever, pain, etc., etc., is produced by a different cause, but such is not the case. Facts of nature prove—and the testimony of people cured of all sorts of diseases by the use of Radam's Microbe Killer substantiates the fact—that there is but one cause for all diseases affecting men, animals and plants, which is fermentation caused by microbes (and nothing else). If there were no microbes there could be no fermentation; hence there would be no sickness and no decay.

For instance: The pus from a wound, sore, abscess, catarrh, expectoration of consumptives, etc., is nothing but fermentation caused by microbes. There is no organic structure which is not subject to attack of some form of microbe; in other words, everything in this world ferments and decays.

The cause and cure of all diseases were established by Mr. Radam some nine years ago (when doctors pronounced him insane after publishing his discovery). Common sense told him what millions of people know now, that the remedy, to cure, must be a powerful but harmless antiseptic.

M. ERYTHREUS.

In order to arrest fermentation in the human body by purifying the blood from microbes, if we stop microbes we preserve, be the subject a horse, wagon or man; the only difference is in the antiseptic used to cure or preserve.

Remedies which do not stop fermentation cannot cure. Everybody ought to know that.

Microbes vary in form and character. One form produces one disease.

ence; another form causes quite a different ailment. One attacks one part of the body, another attacks a different part, thus producing different symptoms. But as the blood circulates these microbes go along in the blood all through the body. It can now be understood why the cutting away of a diseased part of the body, as in cancer, will not effectually cure disease.

Doctors and Curing Are Two Different Things.

To cure disease we must purify the blood from the microbes. A remedy which will do that will cure all diseases. Radam's Microbe Killer is the only antiseptic yet discovered which purifies the blood from microbes without injuring to the patient; hence it is the only remedy which cures disease. This remedy received the verdict that it cures, in three different courts of law; also, a gold medal has been awarded Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer at the Exposition Nationale d'Hygiene (1896), Paris, France.
